Dear colleague

The Future of Legal Services Conference

The Legal Services Board, which oversees the regulation of lawyers in England and Wales, invites you to a conference on the future of the legal services sector.

The event will be held on Monday 14 June, between 9.00am-13.30pm, at the Clore Management Centre, Birkbeck College, London, WC1E 7HX and will be introduced by Chris Kenny, Chief Executive of the Legal Services Board.

The legal services sector has experienced major change since the passage of the Legal Services Act 2007, with many innovations now coming to a head. This conference launches our publication of a compendium of short articles on the trends that will shape the future for delivery of legal services. The articles, written by a variety of academics and commentators, bring fresh insights into the challenges and opportunities of the industry.

Authors speaking at the conference include:

Julia Black, LSE

Tony Williams, Jomati

Pascoe Pleasence, UCL

Lucy Scott-Moncrieff, Scott-Moncrieff Harbour & Sinclair

Booking space is limited. If you would like to reserve a place please email:

I would be grateful if you would forward this message through your networks and contacts so that all colleagues have the opportunity to attend.

Yours sincerely

Chris Kenny
